

FINANCE COMMITTEE

There is hardly an event as worthwhile that the promotion of which will not require efforts and .....funds.

Religious Emphasis Week's expenses are namely those of publicity, travel expenses of the speakers, and housing of the leaders.

The finance committee is responsible for soliciting and collecting of sufficient funds to cover the established budget. To this end student organizations and Church foundations need to be asked to help pay the expenses of Religious Emphasis Week.

The distribution of pledge cards to the above organizations will help to survey the availability of funds. Repeated requests for support may be necessary. Any contribution of any amount is an indication of interest in this project, and an immediate acknowledgement and the deposit in the REW account at the bank ought to hand in hand.

All REW bills need to be handled and paid by the finance committee as soon as the validity of the claim is realized.